MAIL COURSES ARE GIVEN TO TEACHERS

Department of Education of State
University to Offer Correspondence
Work for Teachers.

Professor M. V. O'Shea of the department of education at the University of Wisconsin has arranged to give courses in education in the correspondence study department of the state university. These correspondence courses are adapted to meet the needs of both teachers and parents. They include the principles of teaching, the development of childhood and youth, and the principles of educational psychology. Dr. W. F. Dearborn will conduct the course in psychology. Upon the successful completion of this work, as in the case of all other correspondence courses, the students will receive credit which may be applied toward regular university degrees.

Study Teachers' Problems

The course in problems of teaching treats of practical questions which are constantly arising in the experience of teachers. The instruction includes methods of discipline and the principles of organization. The general aim of education and the values of the different studies in accomplishing this aim forms another important part of the course. In addition there will be a consideration of the psychology of technique in teaching and a general survey of the principles of effective instruction. Opportunity will be given to teachers who take this course, of submitting to the instructor the practical difficulties that arise from time to time in their work, with a view to obtaining helpful suggestions and assistance.

Child Study for Parents

Both parents and teachers will find much of interest in the course in the development of childhood and youth, which covers a number of the most practical problems in the development and training of children. In this connection will be presented the latest results in child study in relation to the boys and girls in and out of the school room. Topics that will be considered include the development and training of the will; motor development and the place of motor activities in education; the development of the intellect; the development of musical, aesthetic, and other talents; and the hygiene of mental development. The characteristics and training of youth, with a consideration of fear and anger in childhood, and their treatment, individually and the means of dealing with particular individuals, form another phase of interest. Dr. Dearborn's correspondence course in educational psychology treats of the psychology of learning and the applications of psychology to teaching. The topics selected for study are those of principal interest to educational theory and practice. The work includes the ways and methods of learning; unlearned reactions of instincts; learned reactions; automatic action and habit; practice and fatigue; attention, apperception, and interest; mental imagery and memory; the specialization of mental function; and introductory discussions of phenomena of growth, development, and deficiency. Those preparing themselves for positions as supervisors of music pursue the same work required in the course for grade teachers and in addition study special methods from the standpoint of the supervisor. Elementary harmony and musical form as it must be presented in the high school forms an important part of the work. Practice in teaching and in conducting is also given. Particular attention is devoted to the problems of teaching music and to the most successful methods of solving them. All the work is pursued along the most practical lines, and the recreation is made to conform as nearly as possible to conditions found in the schoolroom.

Although organized but two years ago, the department has already graduated a number of students. Most of these are now acting as supervisors of music in Wisconsin, Indiana, or North Dakota, and one is assistant instructor in the department of the school of music at the university.

The training of teachers in methods of musical instruction for public schools is an important line of work that is being developed in the school of music in the University of Wisconsin. The instruction is designed for teachers of other branches who are required to conduct musical exercises incidentally as well as for teachers and supervisors who devote their entire time to musical instruction in schools. The development of this new field is the result of the avowed policy of the state university to be of the greatest possible assistance to all the educational interests of the state. The importance of this normal training in music in raising the standard of musical instruction and eventually of the musical tastes of the community can not be overestimated. The course in public school music was organized two years ago, and Mr. Herman E. Owen was selected to take charge of the work. Mr. Owen's training particularly adapted him for the special field to which he was appointed. After graduating from the Indiana state normal school, he taught for several years in public schools, and he is thus thoroughly familiar with the general conditions which prevail. His musical training was obtained in the New England Conservatory of Music, where he was a favorite pupil of the famous theorist and lecturer, Louis C. Elson. He also spent several years in public school work as a supervisor of music. He was teacher of music in the Toledo Manual Training school. Before coming to the University of Wisconsin Mr. Owen gave instruction in the department of solfeggio in the New England Conservatory of Music. The successful development of the new department at the University of Wisconsin has been entirely the result of his efforts.

As at present conducted the work in public school music is divided into three courses, one for grade teachers, another for supervisors, and a third for high school conductors. The course for grade teachers is designed to furnish instruction in rote songs and their application to school work; sight singing and ear training; and the elements of music and the best methods of teaching them in the course. The course also includes a study of the child voice and the means of developing it most effectively. The work for high school teachers is also extremely practical in character. It is devoted to a study and interpretation of songs suitable for older pupils. Training is also given in the art of conducting as it falls to the lot of the high school teacher, and opportunity for practice in conducting is offered these pupils.

BUELL REFUSES TO RUN FOR PRESIDENT

Withdraws from Race for Head of Wisconsin Teachers' Association.

H. C. Buell, superintendent of Janesville schools, has withdrawn from the race for the presidency of the Wisconsin Teachers' Association, which will hold its annual convention in Milwaukee during the holidays. In declining to run Mr. Buell said that though he had been urged by friends to seek election he believed the rural schools had been ignored and that it was their turn to be represented in the executive chair. He believes there is no more representative educator in the state than M. H. Jackson, principal of the Wood county training school, and so favors him in the race. The other candidate is M. N. Melver, superintendent of schools in Oshkosh.

An Old Institution.

Bells were invented before history, at a date unknown. They have always been associated with religion, were used at the time of Moses, and have been found in the ruins of Nineveh.

BUGGY WRECKED AND OVERTURNED; MR. AND
MRS. DENNISTON HURT

Serious Accident Occurred on North
Main Street Shortly After Four o'clock Saturday.

On North Main street near the Milwaukee street intersection shortly after four o'clock Saturday afternoon a rig driven by parties whose identity has not been learned, the horse having been frightened by a street car, crashed into, partially demolished, and overturned a buggy in which Mr. and Mrs. James A. Denniston were riding. Each of the occupants received a severe shaking up and was badly bruised, and in addition to these injuries Mrs. Denniston sustained a sprained wrist. Spectators picked them up and helped them into the People's drugstore where they remained nearly an hour before they had sufficiently recovered from the shock to resume their way home.

Little People Are Writing Santa
Claus What They Want
for Christmas.

Santa Claus letters are rapidly filling up his mail bag at the Gazette office. Little people all over the county are sending their little letters to their petron saint and there is still room for many more. Old Santa has a long memory, but it needs refreshing at least once a year and besides he wants to know whether his little friends have been good all the past year. Be sure to write him. Make your letters plain, write on one side of the paper and put a two-cent stamp on the letter so it will reach him safely. Ten days more and Santa will have made his visit. Nine days from today you will be expecting him and the gentleman who has made yearly pilgrimages for years and years and years is coming again this year. Even if your chimney is small he can reach you. Write your letters care of the Santa Claus Mail bag.

If you like Mrs. Austin's famous Buckwheat flour, won't you kindly tell your friends how delicious it is!

Not From What You Eat, But
From What You Digest.

Most people eat most foods without discrimination—it matters little what. Few stop to think what that food does for them. This is the first turn on the road to dyspepsia. Reckless disregard of the proper choice of foods, rapid eating and improper mastication, are the unquestioned causes of all stomach disorders from the slight ache to the malignant cancer. There is nothing more revolting than a dyspeptic stomach—a very vat for putrefaction, sending forth its poison throughout the entire system, depressing the brain, befouling the breath, souring the taste, deadening the muscles, incapacitating the liver and kidneys for their work, debilitating the heart, choking the lungs and clogging the bowels.

All of these disagreeable and dangerous conditions are due to the improper digestion of food and the consequent assimilation of poison. What else can be expected? If the food lies in the stomach, if the system is constipated, fermentation is the natural outcome. It shows itself in sour watery risings, belchings, heartburn and painful breathing.

There is only one way to relieve this condition. If the stomach refuses to digest your food put something in to that will. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are nothing but digestives. They are not a medicine. They work when the stomach will not.

Each tablet contains enough pepsin, diastase, golden seal and other digestive elements to reduce 3,000 grains of ordinary food to the proper consistency for assimilation into the blood.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are absolutely pure. There is nothing harmful in them as shown in their endorsement by 40,000 physicians in the United States, and Canada.

Ask your family physician his opinion of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and if he is honest toward you he will state positively that they will cure your stomach trouble whatever it may be, unless you have waited too long and have allowed your disorder to develop into cancer.

Act today and begin to end your suffering. A free trial package will be sent to your address upon request. The 50 cent size packages are for sale at your druggists. F. A. Stuart Co., 67 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

VINOL SETTLES

The Cod Liver Oil Question.

No one will dispute the cumulative and strength creating value of cod liver oil. For centuries it has been recognized as the grandest of all healing and body-building agents for wasted human strength and vitality.

Yet, owing to the heavy, greasy oil which envelops the medicinal elements, and which has no value either as a food or medicine, many patients weakened by disease cannot digest it either in its raw form or an emulsion, and others will not take it on account of its disagreeable odor and taste—consequently its value is lost.

Now, the process discovered by two eminent French chemists—Morgues and Gautier—should interest every person in Janesville, for all of the tonic, body-building and curative elements of cod liver oil are now separated from the greasy, useless oil, and given to the people in delicious Vinol. For this reason it is fast superseding old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions.

As a body-builder and strength creator for old people, weak women, delicate children, and after sickness and all pulmonary diseases, it is recommended by over 5,000 of the leading druggists of the United States as the best.

Your money back if it does not do all we claim. Smith Drug Co.

NOTE—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Janesville, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

Before The Footlights.

The autograph fiend is on the trail of Lhevinne, the great Russian pianist, and everywhere he goes he is controlled by stacks of letters from those who have learned of his fame and are anxious to get his signature in their collections. Lhevinne pays no attention to such requests by mail. If he did he would get writer's cramp in a week and his pianist's career would stop suddenly. But he was caught and forced to surrender by the autograph hunters two weeks ago when he played at Smith college, Northampton, Mass. There are over 1000 young women at this great school and every one of them turned out in evening dress for his recital. Lhevinne said it was the most beautiful audience he had ever played to. But when he had finished, the girls swarmed all over the stage and insisted that he autograph their programs. Escape was impossible and he surrendered gracefully. After an hour's hard work, the college authorities went to his rescue and cleared the hall by turning down the lights.

The famous Lulu Glaser production of "Dolly Varden" with its magnificent choruses of pretty girls, its wealth of magnificent scenery and its beautiful costumes comes to the Myers theatre Friday, Dec. 14, and there is every reason to believe that the event will be one of considerable importance among music lovers and theatregoers generally. No light opera in recent years has been so enthusiastically received by the public as has "Dolly Varden" and the coming presentation will be one of the social events of the season. There has been so many musical comedies exploited under the name of light or comic opera that of late there has been a demand for the real comic opera. Theatregoers know "Dolly Varden" and there is no mistaking the excellence of the coming production.

Janesville Daily Gazette, Monday, December 10, 1866.—Pent.—The high prices of coal and wood are turning the attention of many persons to the value of peat as a fuel. It is being used considerably in Milwaukee this season and the Wisconsin says that peat has been accomplished in that city by its use. The Brandon Times notes the purchase of a bed of 500 acres near Ripon to be worked next season. At Mayville and Iron Ridge in Dodge county they have been making extensive experiments the past summer. The Burlington Standard, in Racine county, has a lengthy description of the works in town and the success of the enterprise. Near Madison the work of manufacturing peat has been going on for some time.

We are told that large beds of this article are known to exist in this county, and if so, some enterprising capitalist should make money by working them.

"Painting the Town"

"The Scene on the Roof," which is one of the unusual novelties offered by the Charles H. Yale Amusement Co. in the production of the new musical burlesque, "Painting the Town," is not only one of, if not the, funniest conceits ever presented, but it is also a triumph of stage mechanism. It is of the trick or instantaneous order.

The scene preceding this represents the connected dining rooms of the Hotel cafe. There occurs the most exciting chase after Hogan and Brogan, the two Irishmen. Their pursuers, the police and others, closely press them, when Hogan discovers a fire escape in the room. Both agree to climb up the chimney to the roof and disappear up the fire escape. Their pursuers burst into the room. Instantly there is total darkness and as instantly the lights are raised showing the roof of the cafe. Hogan and Brogan are seen climbing out of the chimney and down to the roof itself. From thence on they are victims to hard luck. Realizing that to escape their pursuers they must make a night of it on the roof, they arrange to do so, but are beset by every discomfort and inconvenience, all of the most laughable order. Finally after a night of trouble, the police reach the roof and in the chase that occurs both Hogan and Brogan fall through the stained glass dome of the cafe roof to the grand parquet room below. All these unusual effects are carried out in full view of the audience with detailed fidelity, the mechanical working out from the cafe dining room to the roof itself, being without question, one of the most notable effects ever offered the theatre-going public.

Washington, Dec. 10.—The annual report of Postmaster General Cortelyou, made public Sunday night, reviews the work of the department for the past year gives in detail the postal revenue and expenditures, discusses important changes that have been made in departmental organization, and makes such suggestions and recommendations as appear to be warranted.

The statement of the department's finances shows that the receipts for the year were $107,932,82.95; the expenditures, $173,932,778.89; excess of expenditures over receipts, $10,510,995.94.

As to the Deficit.

After discussing various reforms in the organization of the department, the postmaster general says:

"I repeat what I stated a year ago, that while it would be a gratifying circumstance if the post office department were self-sustaining, I am less concerned about the deficit than about the efficiency of administration. The public demand for postal facilities is constantly growing. If the installation of the rural service had depended upon the existence of a surplus in the postal revenues under the existing system of accounting, that service could not have been given. The same considerations apply to a number of other branches. The financial returns from certain branches are so interwoven with and dependent upon others that there is much force in the contention that it is unreasonable to charge any one of them with the responsibility for the deficit."

"The rural delivery has undoubtedly increased the bulk of first-class mail matter. The circulation of the second-class mail also very largely affects the bulk of the higher class, to what degree it is practically impossible to determine. Of course, a rapidly increasing deficit for a period of years may be a matter of some concern, but I think present conditions warrant us in turning our attention, rather, to an investigation and improvement of every branch of the department's work."

High Efficiency Shown.

Other extracts from the report are: "In spite of defects the efficiency of the service has been in many respects remarkable, as witness the record of the registry service for the half century of its existence, showing a percentage of loss from all causes—including burglary, theft and fire—for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1904, of only three one-hundredths of one per cent. Some private business enterprises may in certain directions yield better financial returns, but they cannot show a higher standard of integrity nor more faithful performance of duty."

Use of Mails for Fraud.

"In the two years closed June 30, 1906, the fraud orders numbered 630, exceeding by 71 the total number issued in the four years immediately preceding. The schemes suppressed represented almost every conceivable variety of fraud. There were work-at-home propositions, bond investment enterprises, medicinal cure-alls, absent-treatment schemes, devices for the exploitation of stocks, and enterprises offering 'something for nothing' under the guise of the endless chain method of investment; all of which upon examination proved to be mere traps for the credulous. Included in the total of orders issued during the two-year period in question were 59 orders against lotteries and similar enterprises."

Rural Delivery of Parcels.

"I recommend that provision be made for the carriage by rural carriers, at a fair rate of postage, of small parcels on rural routes, such privilege to be restricted in each case to the limits of the particular route on which the parcel originates, or, if found feasible, to all the routes emanating from a single post office."

"In cooperation with the department of agriculture, systematic efforts have been made during the year to secure the improvement of the roads traversed by rural carriers."

The report concludes:

"I know of no one thing that will do more for the postal service than continued insistence upon the policy of substituting business for politics in the administration of its affairs."

Farmer as Bait.

On an examination paper in zoology the question was asked: "Of what use to the farmer are the earthworm and the slug?"

The reply of one promising pupil read:

"The earthworm is of use to the farmer because he eats the insects and minute animals that are destructive to crops; he is also useful because he can use him as bait when the farmer goes fishing."—Judge.

A Historian's Joke.

Macaulay is not usually regarded as a humorous writer, but in his History of England he perpetrates the following in relating the death of Charles II. He says: "Several of the pre-scriptions have been preserved. One of them is signed by 14 doctors. . . . He recovered his senses, but he was evidently in a situation of extreme danger."

A Daily Thought.

There is but one straight road to success, and that is merit. The man who is successful is the man who is useful. Capacity never lacks opportunity. It cannot remain undiscovered, because it is sought by too many anxious to utilize it. A capable man on earth is more valuable than any precious deposit under the earth, and the object of a much more vigilant search.—W. Bourke Cockran.

Distorted Compliment.

"Very gratifying," said the young and conceited novelist. "A gentleman writes me that he took a copy of my last work to read during a railway journey, and as a result suddenly discovered he had gone 20 miles beyond his destination." "Dear me," commented the young author's friend; "sleeping on trains is a bad habit!"—Stray Stories.

TOO MUCH LETTER-WRITING.

President Roosevelt is the victim of too much letter-writing. The discovery was made long ago, that letters are frequently troublesome propositions, and the wise man, whether in public or private life, is chary of epistles which may bob up to annoy him at almost any time.

When there is a woman in the case, as frequently happens, conditions are all the more embarrassing, as the President is finding out to his disgust and humiliation.

Bellamy Storer has a wife, and while Bellamy held the title of ambassador, Mrs. Bellamy evidently wore the spurs and commanded the situation. She was an ambitious woman, and fortune favored her with friendly and close relations, to both the McKinley and Roosevelt administrations.

Aspiration prompted her to ask for a place in the latter's cabinet, for Mr. Storer, but this was not possible, and the couple were sent abroad in the diplomatic service.

The correspondence which followed, and which finally resulted in an open rupture, was a combination of church and state, with Mrs. Bellamy as a prominent feature.

It is an unfortunate occurrence, and will result in airing a lot of linen which might better have never been hung on the line. The correspondence between the department and foreign representatives is all right, but the Storer's should have settled their own family affairs, and it was hardly necessary for the President to recognize Mrs. Storer in the deal.

The President will come out of it all right, but it will require a world of explaining, and result in a lot of foolish gossip that might have been avoided.

THE WHITEWASHER.

It has long been known that District Attorney Jerome was a grandstand player, brought into prominence by a tidal wave of reform. He has so repeatedly disappointed his constituency that his name is practically a byword. In the life insurance investigation he has proved a dismal failure, as will be seen by the following from the New York World:

"One of Mr. Jerome's excuses for not prosecuting the rich and influential criminals of the Mutual Life Insurance company is the absence of penal statutes designed to meet just such abuses as the investigation disclosed. Will Jerome name any of these against society, with the exception of adultery, for which the penal code of the state of New York does not provide penalties and punishment?"

"No law is self-enforcing. Criminals cannot be expected to surrender themselves in the penitentiary and defy the state to evict them until they have atoned for their sins against society. If this were their habit there would be no need of district attorneys. And if all crimes were so plain and crude that there was no denial of guilt prosecuting attorneys would be unnecessary."

"What is imperatively demanded in the insurance cases is not more law, but a district attorney who will enforce the law already on the statute books. Most of us remember a time when United States attorneys generally insisted that the Sherman law was inadequate as Mr. Jerome thinks the penal code is. But when President Roosevelt set out to enforce the law the supreme court of the United States sustained him and the law was found to be effective. It is that same statute under which the government of the United States is now proceeding against the Standard Oil company, which, by the way, is the dominating influence in the Mutual Life Insurance company. Had the people of the United States been compelled to depend on Jerome's Sherman law would still be a dead letter."

"Back of all Mr. Jerome's excuses and apologies and palliations stands the great scandal that instead of prosecuting the insurance criminals his dominating desire is to prevent their prosecution. Instead of being an instrument for the administration of justice he has made himself an obstacle to the administration of justice."

"The immediate and pressing duty of Gov. Higgins is to appoint a district attorney for New York county who will enforce the law instead of concocting excuses for not enforcing it. The constitution commands the governor to 'take care that the laws are faithfully executed.'"

BILLY SUNDAY'S SUCCESS.

Billy Sunday, the noted evangelist, has just closed a meeting at Kewanee, Illinois, of which the Sterling Gazette says:

"The Kewanee revival meetings closed Monday night and Rev. W. A. Sunday delivered a powerful farewell sermon resulting in 250 more conversions or a total of 3,618 converts. He was given the sum of $3,400, the largest sum of money that he has received for a like service. The number of converts that he made during the four weeks is the largest he ever converted. In fact the meeting was a splendid success in every way."

"A telephone message from Kewanee this morning states that the town is now intensely religious, but the opinion was that nothing would be doing in regard to the political circles next spring, especially on the temperance question."

"Six of Kewanee's ten aldermen have professed religion, beside the highest officers of the strongest lodges in the city including the Masons, Knights of Pythias, Woodmen, Elks, Tribunes, doctors, business men, and members of labor unions. Nearly half the membership of the Sixth regiment has been converted."

"That sort of an awakening would be a good thing for Janesville."

MEAT AND DAIRY PRODUCTS.

More than 250 million dollars' worth of meat and dairy products will have passed out of the United States into the markets of other parts of the world in the year ending with the present month. This enormous total of 250 million dollars' worth of meat and dairy products is made up of a little over 200 million dollars' worth of meats, 35 million dollars' worth of cattle, and about 10 million dollars' worth of butter, cheese, and milk.

The ten months' record already announced by the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor shows exportations of meat and meat products to the value of 172 million dollars, against 147 millions in the corresponding period of last year, a gain of 25 million dollars in the ten months ending with October, 1906, over the corresponding months of 1905, and a gain of about 40 millions over those of the corresponding months of 1904. The live cattle exported in the ten months ending with October, 1906, amounted to 32½ million dollars in value, and the dairy products exported to about 8 million dollars.

No feature of the export trade in agricultural products has shown a more steady and rapid growth than that of meat and dairy products. The total value of meat and dairy products exported in the fiscal year 1896 was 132 million dollars, and in the fiscal year 1906 was 211 millions, an increase of about 60 per cent during the decade; while the figures for the calendar year 1906 seem likely to be about the same as those for the fiscal year, basing the estimate upon the recorded figures of the ten months ending with October.

The undercurrent of the President's message is a warning against indiscriminate criticism of wealth. It is a timely warning, for the country has gone crazy wild over this sort of criticism. While the government is attempting to regulate the railroads, there is a disposition on the part of the people to regulate everything else in sight.

Children's Letters.

Letter-writing is an art which comparatively few people master, and the ability to write a letter to a child without being childish is a rare attainment, yet this rare gift has developed from time to time, and among the list of authors is found the names of some of the famous men and women of both the old and new world.

A little book, fresh from the press of Hinds, Noble & Eldredge, New York, has just been brought out, containing letters of children by Phillips Brooks, Martin Luther, Sidney Smith, Charles Kingsley, Julian Huxley, Thomas Huxley, Helen Keller, Robert Southey, Thomas Hood, Charles Dickens, Abraham Lincoln, Edwin Booth, Robert E. Lee, and a score of others whose names are still green in memory.

It is a unique collection of choice letters to children, and discloses traits of character which only this class of correspondence can reveal.

These famous men and women possessed the happy faculty of expressing thought in simple language, so that any child could comprehend it. More than this, they never forget that they were children once, and memory and sympathy was always in close touch with child life.

The book, which sells for $1 postpaid, is entitled "Children's Letters." It will make a delightful Christmas present, and should be read in every home where there are children.

DR. GISH

Now dead, was for many years the dentist who had the run of business of making artificial teeth in this city. He was able to get and hold this department of the practice because he had the native ability together with experience which must be possessed by a man who hopes to ever be a success in making teeth.

Very few men are really cut out by nature to be dentists. Hundreds of dentists go out of practice every year simply because they have not the natural adaptation by nature to ever be successful dentists.

At the present time the bulk of the plate work in Janesville is being done by Dr. Richards.

He had good success at it from the day he began to practice and now after 17 years of daily experience, he simply delivers the goods.

A man recently said to Dr. Richards, "I have had 24 sets of teeth made for me before I got the present plates in my mouth."

If you would save yourself from a like experience

AIR BRAKES CAUSE OF FREIGHT WRECK

Sudden Application Pushed Draw Bar in and Shoved Truck of Car Out of Position.

By the sudden application of air brakes on a double-headed Northwestern freight train, coming into the city off the Northern Wisconsin division, a car belonging to a bridge building gang was wrecked near the Hanson furniture factory about three o'clock Sunday morning and as a result both Northwestern and St. Paul roads were blocked for two hours and a half. The draw bar of the car was pushed in and one truck was shoved back to the other. The box of the car was turned and extended over the parallel St. Paul tracks. The wrecking crew was called out and the damaged car brought to the local yards for repairs. The car contained several thousand dollars' worth of tools and material but none of the contents was injured.

RESCUED CHILDREN BUT LOST OWN LIFE

Former Milton Girl and Wife of ex-Resident of Janesville Burned to Death.

In rescuing her three children from the burning home, Mrs. Elmer Hansen, wife of a former well-known Janesville resident and daughter of Reverend W. T. Millar of Milton, was fatally burned near Hillsdale, Wis., last Thursday night and died Friday. She had put the children to bed and as she was carrying a lamp downstairs it broke and kerosene spread over her clothing and ignited. Though the flames soon enveloped her she succeeded in taking the children from the doomed house and then in the frenzy of the moment attempted to save some clothing. Mr. Hansen was attracted from the barn where he was doing the chores, but his efforts to smother the flames in her clothing were fruitless and she was terribly burned. Her remains will be brought to Milton for interment tomorrow afternoon. Mr. Hansen was employed as a delivery clerk at the Pickering grocery store while living in this city.

Judgment was signed and certified back to the treasurer in the case of the City of Janesville vs. John Doe et al. for delinquent taxes. The jury was excused until Jan. 8, 1907, at which time the action of the State vs. N. C. Hansen, a criminal action brought on the charge of selling adulterated milk, will be tried. Actions listed and numbered in the printed calendar will follow in the order hereinafter given: 3, 4, 20, 24, 14, 7, 13, 28, 29, 32, 35. The complaint has not yet been filed in the Hamrahan & Lindquist $13,000 suit against the city to recover for sewer "extras" disallowed by the council and it is not certain that it will be tried before the February term. The jury was waived in this action many months ago.

Empty Packages Delivered to Bostwick Store—Contents Probably Stolen from Wreck.

Some $40 worth of notions, principally shopping bags, were missing from a consignment of drygoods that was received from a New York wholesale concern at the store of J. M. Boswick & Sons this morning. The articles had disappeared from their wrappings and crates while the shipment was en route. It is believed that the goods were in a wreck this side of Cleveland, but whether destroyed or stolen is a question. One of the members of the firm in speaking of the incident said such cases were not infrequent and cited an odd circumstance in connection with the case. A baby cloak, ordered several weeks ago, was shipped to the wrong city and returned to the sender. On being shipped the second time it disappeared from its wrappings, which arrived safely.

Yale Led Eastern Elevens

Her Victory Over Harvard Gave Best Claim to Supremacy.

Princeton's Claims—Little Chance of a Yale-Harvard Break.

The question as to the champion eastern football team of 1906 is a troublesome one, although most critics are disposed to award the honor to Yale.

CAPTAIN S. F. B. MORSE, YALE'S GREAT LEADER.

Princeton, and this, with her defeat of Harvard, should give her the first position.

Yale's development of championship caliber at a time when many observers thought her chances slim showed that she had plenty of power in reserve, to use when she needed it most.

Captain Samuel F. B. Morse, half-back, Roomer, half-back, Veeder and End Alcott proved the bright stars of the Yale team.

Roomer it was who scored the winning touchdown against Harvard. He is a wonderfully powerful line hitter. He is a human bull when on the grid-iron.

He was the one man to turn the final trick when Yale put the ball on Harvard's eight yard line, through Veeder's now historical long forward pass and Alcott's splendid catch of it.

It was a severe misfortune for Yale to have to do without Roomer's services for most of the season.

Morse and Veeder proved to be practically the most formidable set of line attackers in the east.

There is probably no truth in the reports that Yale and Harvard will not meet each other next year, although President Eliot of Harvard is desirous of having football abolished at Cambridge altogether. He classes football and basket ball as "dishonorable sports." Dear, dear! How would he like to substitute jackstraws and "Button, button," for them?

Roberta and Jennie Scott. Roberta, 2:09 1/4, and Jennie Scott, 2:14 1/4, of the Crabtree stable will be bred to Moko.

You need a tonic that will put the sap of life into your system and fortify you from all diseases. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea is recognized as the greatest strengthener known. Tea or Tablets, 35 cents. Smith Drug Co.

Horse Racing Here and Abroad

How English and American Winners Compare—W. K. Vanderbilt.

Incomplete statistics on English horse racing for the season tend to show that in several respects the results approximated those on the turf in this country. In Accountant, however, America has a money winner that runs several thousands ahead of the greatest winner on British courses and even ahead of Spearmint, whose principal money was gained in France by the capture of the Grand Prix de Paris.

Accountant's aggregate in nine victories was nearly $81,000 as against Spearmint's less than $75,000, including his French success. His loss, but important, victory in England was in the classic Derby, with a value of $32,250. The largest amount of money won by any one horse in England was about $55,000 by Keystone II, the great three-year-old daughter of Persimmon, and accounted the champion of her age. The credit of winning over $50,000 is also held by three other runners, Troutbeck, Bridge of Camoy and Dinnetford. It is rather remarkable that Keystone II, and Dinnetford won only three races apiece, but the latter captured the Princess of Wales stakes, the most valuable turf event but one of the entire season. Another big winner, Liangbui, has only one victory to his credit, but that was the Eclipse stakes, the richest prize of the year, worth $40,425.

The eight leading English sires of 1906 are: Ladas and Persimmon, the produce of each having won nearly $100,000; Carbine, $75,000; Gallinule, $72,000; Ayrlshire, $70,000; Love Wisely, $68,000; Isinglass, $65,000; and Blarney, $65,000. There are fourteen sires in the list with over $40,000 to their credit and nearly a dozen others close to that figure. These figures indicate that there has been more equality among the leading sires during 1906 than for many years previously.

In America nine of the leading sires are credited with over $60,000 each, and the produce of eighteen are credited with over $40,000. It will thus be seen that the figures do not vary greatly. The leading American sire, however, runs nearly a third ahead of Persimmon and Ladas. This is Meddler, whose get have captured nearly $150,000 in stakes and purses. Next to Meddler stand Voter, $94,000; Filigrane, $89,000; Hamburg, $80,000;

W. K. VANDERBILT, WHO HEADS LIST OF TURF WINNERS IN FRANCE.

Watercrest, $77,000; Hastings, $71,000; Ornament, $64,000; Ben Strone, $63,000; and Woolsthorpe, $60,000. The champion two-year-old of the English season was Polar Star, a grandson of Galopin, by Pioneer-Go On, bred by Colonel Walker Hall in Ireland and raced by that gentleman. Polar Star, however, was not the greatest money winning juvenile, as he is credited with only $30,000 as against Traquair's $45,000. Here again the similarity of the results in the two countries can be seen, for Salvidere, the acknowledged champion of the juvenile brigade in America, was short by $3,000, of reaching the total roiled up by Electioneer. Both are credited with over $50,000.

Cleora, the champion three-year-old of last season in England, amounted to nothing this year, and the credit for being the best distance runner of the all aged division goes to Polyclus, the Cylene four-year-old winner of the Cambridgehire, Duke of York and Champion stakes.

It is interesting to note that the American millionaire, W. K. Vanderbilt, led the winners in France, ousting Edmond Blanc from the position he has held for many years. Mr. Vanderbilt has won a total of $245,080. His three-year-old Malutenon leads the winning horses, with prizes valued at $168,135.

This is the greatest amount ever won by a single horse in one season in France, and only one French horse, Lacarnage, ever won during its entire racing career more than this total. Lacarnage's entire winnings are spread over five seasons and amount to $196,000. Malutenon never appeared as a two-year-old, and if all goes well he may easily pass this record next year.

Murphy and Robinson. Tommy Murphy will challenge Spike Robinson when the Englishman returns to this country. They are still a good card.

What Adam ate, not what he drank. Was he from Eden's garden driven, O, what a difference there now would be. If he had taken Rocky Mountain Tea. —Smith Drug Co.

America's Leading Amateur Skater Is to Try For Canadian Honors.

Native of Long Branch City, N. J., Is a Simon Pure Amateur.

Morris Wood, the American amateur skating champion, is out on the war-path. This phenomenal native of Long Branch City, N. J., is gunning for the Canadian championship titles as well as the American ones.

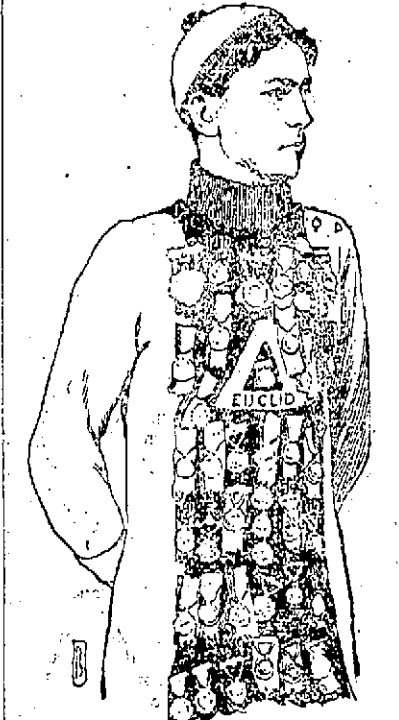

Wood will go to Canada to attempt to make himself the best hated lad in the entire Dominion, as he would be if he defeated the Canucks at the sport they take the most pride in.

Wood denies reports that he would not compete actively this year. He has all the medals now that he can carry, but he wants to win a few more to give away to his friends.

A cynical observer once said to the writer:

"Seven-tenths of the gold and silver medals won by American amateurs in the last ten years are now resting peacefully in the hands of the pawn-brokers of the big cities."

But Morris never patronized these loan artists even though he has had to MORRIS WOOD AND A FEW OF HIS MEDALS. work very hard to earn his living. He is a consistent, untraceable amateur, and so ranks among the modern wonders of the world.

Both the American and Canadian championships will be held late in January or early in February.

Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Columbia and Dartmouth universities will be included in the intercollegiate ice hockey league for the present year.

As usual, one of the star Canadian teams will invade the United States in January. A team from Quebec is coming down this year. A Toronto outfit may venture this way also.

Hockey will be a leading sport at Princeton when the artificial lake presented by Andrew Carnegie is opened in midwinter. Carnegie lake will afford fine facilities for practice.

Candidates for Yale's varsity hockey team have already been called out. Five good men of last year's team are left as a nucleus for another strong seven, and there is much good material from which to pick new men. Under the new eligibility rules freshmen cannot play on the varsity team, but in their class teams they can prove their worth, thereby helping their chances for next year.

HANDY TO MEET DANIELS.

Great Swimming Race to Occur in Buffalo in February.

The much discussed swimming match between C. M. Daniels of the New York Athletic club and H. J. Handy of the Chicago Athletic association will take place at the Young Men's Christian association of Buffalo, N. Y., on the 8th of next February.

Daniels, who has just returned to New York from a visit to Buffalo, gives his reasons for selecting that city for the match. He says he was brought up at Buffalo and his friends have often urged him to give them a chance to see him swim.

Both Chicago and New York wanted the match, and extraordinary efforts were made to secure the attraction.

The distance will be half a mile, and the race will take place in a pool which is 60 by 20 feet in size. A new record is almost sure to be established, and experts believe that twelve minutes will be beaten.

EVENTS OF THE PRESENT WEEK

HOUSE WILL TAKE UP THE APPROPRIATION BILL.

SMOOT'S CASE IN SENATE

Algeciras Treaty Probably Will Be Ratified Wednesday—Church and State Separation in France in Effect Dec. 11.

The national house of representatives will give the greater part of its time during the present week to the consideration of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, while the senate will pay special attention to the report of the senate committee on privileges and elections on the right of Senator Smoot of Utah to retain his seat.

In the house the appropriation bill will be taken up Monday immediately after the close of the routine morning business, while in the senate consideration of the Smoot question will be postponed until Tuesday. The senate proceedings on that subject will be interrupted after one day's discussion to give place to the Algeciras treaty, which is set for next Wednesday.

Mr. Tawney, chairman of the house committee on appropriations, is of the opinion that the legislative bill will be voted upon before the close of the week. There are a number of items in the bill which are calculated to provoke discussion, and it is expected that some of the Democratic representatives will find occasion to express their views regarding some of the features of the president's message. If they should do so there will be a response from the Republican side of the chamber.

The fortifications appropriation bill, which is now under consideration in committee, will immediately follow the legislative bill, and Chairman Tawney is hopeful that it may be passed before the Christmas holidays.

Burrows on Smoot Case.

In the senate, Senator Burrows will at the end of the morning hour on Tuesday open the debate on the Smoot question in a three hours' speech advocating the adoption of the committee resolution declaring Mr. Smoot to be not entitled to his seat.

Mr. Burrows will make a comprehensive analysis of the testimony in the case, and will also cite many precedents in support of the resolution. He will be followed in the same line on Thursday by Senator Dubois, and later in the session Senator Smoot is expected to be heard in his own behalf. Senators Sutherland, his colleague, and Senators Foraker, Dillingham, Beveridge and Hopkins will also probably present views in support of Mr. Smoot's right to retain his office. There is no hope that the question may be concluded during the present week, or even before the holidays, but Senators Burrows and Dubois express a determination to keep it as well to the front as possible.

Unless the unforeseen happens, the Algeciras treaty will be ratified on Wednesday, after very brief consideration. The fact that the foreign relations committee has agreed upon a resolution declaring the purposes of the United States not to be involved in European complications by its acquiescence in the treaty has done much to remove opposition, and it is even predicted that resolution of ratification will be adopted after a few senators shall have had opportunity to briefly explain their positions. Considerable time will probably be spent by the senate in executive session in considering nominations to be reported from the various committees. Among these are a number of cabinet officers.

May Adjourn Dec. 20.

There is already talk of adjournment for the Christmas holidays, and the prospect is that it will occur about December 20, and that the holiday will continue until January 7. The leaders who have been in conference on this subject say that abundant time will then be left for the passage of all the appropriation bills and for other necessary legislation.

The church and state separation law, which was passed by the French parliament a year ago goes into effect in Paris December 11, and will be enforced in the various departments on December 12 and 13.

Civic Federation Annual.

The National Civic Federation will hold its annual meeting in New York on Wednesday and Thursday. The advisability of imposing taxes on incomes will be discussed by Andrew Carnegie, President Eliot of Harvard, Oscar Straus and Samuel Compers. Government by injunction will be discussed by John Mitchell, Seth Low and others. Child labor will also be considered.

The trial of the charges against the packing companies indicted for alleged combination will begin in Chicago on Monday.

Sentence is to be imposed upon Chester R. Gillette for the murder of Grace Brown at Herkimer, N. Y., Monday.

CASTRO TAKEN TO MACUTO.

Dispatch from Martinique Says He Seemed Quite Unconscious.

Fort De France, Martinique, Dec. 10.—Advices received here from Venezuela set forth that President Castro was moved down to the little sea coast village of Macuto, near La Guaira, last Monday. The president is described as being very ill. He made the trip from Caracas in a bed. When he arrived at Macuto he appeared to be absolutely unconscious. It is generally believed that he has no chance of recovery.

Violently worded posters have been circulated in Caracas declaring that no one is to-day deceived regarding the gravity of President Castro's illness, and insisting that the exercise of the executive power be assured through a vice president, as is provided for in the constitution. For a long time past, the poster continues, only routine government matters have been attended to, and important questions are being held in abeyance.

Great Bend, Kan., Dec. 10.—The name of the man who held up the J. V. Brinkman company bank Saturday is Joseph S. Kearns. His home is in Chicago, where he had lately been a newspaper man. Kearns broke down Saturday and asked that his uncle, Joseph G. Orr, a lawyer of South Bend, Ind., be telegraphed. Kearns says that for several years he has been working in Chicago. He has worked for Mandel Brothers as a stockkeeper and the Wells Fargo Express company as a driver of a money wagon. He said that he had read of the recent robberies over the country and that he came direct from Chicago to do the job.

From Printer's Ink:

You can advertise canned tomatoes at a shilling a can and sell them while your price-omitting competitor keeps them on his shelves at ten cents.

No successful advertiser makes up his copy without a thought of the possible women readers of it. The woman is the spender of the family, but she is the saver too.

The best advertisement is not the one that attracts the most attention, but the one that sells the most goods.

THE RESULTS FROM GOOD ADVERTISING. KEEP ACCUMULATING LIKE THE SNOW ON THE BALL THE BOY ROLLS. THE RETURNS FROM A GOOD AD ARE NEVER ALL IN.

A man once said: "I pay to advertise most businesses, but mine is different." The sheriff sold him out, and now he works for his successor who does advertise.

Making people want the goods is after all about as near the secret to it as there comes to being any secret. Make the public want what you have to sell and the sale is half made.

To make sure that your dead stock will not sell, put it out of sight. If you are really anxious to get rid of it, display it prominently and put a price on it that will make it go.

A customer is a prospective purchaser as long as he remains in the store. The mere fact that he has bought and paid for something does not argue that his money is all spent or his needs all filled.

Advertising makes customers: modern store methods hold them. These two are the merchant's two hands.

BROWN'S CONDITION CRITICAL.

Former Utah Senator Whom Woman Shot May Die.

Washington, Dec. 10.—Former United States Senator Arthur Brown of Salt Lake City, who was shot by Mrs. Anna M. Bradley in his room at the Raleigh hotel in this city Saturday afternoon, is in a very critical condition at the Emergency hospital.

More Assassinations Planned. St. Petersburg, Dec. 10.—The extreme section of the revolutionists has resolved to make attempts upon the lives of exalted personages.

Reveal Character. You can trust a woman who sits with her thumbs up. She may be determined, but she is not untruthful. The one who conceals her thumbs is apt to be deceitful and untruthful. Look at the thumb if you want to judge of people's intellectual strength, for the longer it is proportionately the stronger the brain.

English and American Manners.

British frankness of speech makes the Englishman or woman say things that appear indelicate to us, says a writer in Harper's Magazine. They consider us prudish, while we think them a little coarse—everything depends upon the point of view! There is a primness of speech and manner which is indicative of a half-way stage of culture, it is true. The woman who sustains a fracture of her nether limb aims at refinement, but goes over the border line into affectation. Surely this is to be preferred to the twentieth century fad of discussing a la Bernard Shaw, topics from which our mothers shrunk with horror!

High-Flown Metaphors.

Mr. Spurgeon, the great English preacher, was a keen collector of mixed metaphors, finding a rich field in the correspondence that daily overwhelmed him. A woman inclosing a small contribution for his school's welfare wrote: "I hope this widow's mite may take root and spread its branches until it becomes a Hercules in your hands." Pulpit prayers of ambitious probationers added something to the great preacher's store. One prayed that "God's rod and staff may be ours while tossed on the sea of life, so that we may fight the good fight of faith and in the end soar to rest."

"Pamela" the First Novel.

A great branch of literature, undoubtedly the most widely popular, and one in which England showed the way to the world, is the novel. In the year 1740 readers were delighted with a new kind of book, a prose romance, not of legend, but of their own day and manners. It was the pioneer novel; was called "Pamela," the work of Samuel Richardson, a London printer, and the great success it met with soon brought forth a host of others.

Very Likely.

"You seemed to size that man up pretty well," remarked the talkative patron. "Sure," replied the waiter, "it's easy for us waiters to take a man's measure."

Arabs when they meet a friend shake hands six or eight times. Once is not enough. ARKANSAS FEDERATION
OF LABOR CONVENTION

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Ft. Smith, Ark., Dec. 10.—Delegates representing the bone and sinew of organized labor in Arkansas responded to the roll call today at the opening of the fourth annual convention of the State Federation of Labor. Pine Bluff, Little Rock, Texarkana and other leading cities of the state were represented. President S. F. Brackney of this city called the gathering to order. The exchange of greetings and the appointment of committees occupied the greater part of the initial session. The annual report of L. H. Moore, secretary and treasurer, shows that the past year has been one of unusual activity and progress for the organization. With perhaps not over one-half of the labor unions in its jurisdiction affiliated, the state federation has accomplished good results in increasing the use of union label goods in Arkansas, as well as the demand for union workmen. It has secured the passage of several laws in the interest of labor, has brought about friendly relations between the farmers and trade unions, and has perfected an agreement between the Farmers' State Union and the State Federation of Labor to their mutual advantage.
